

The American College Health Association Boosts Big Pharma

The ACHA is supposed to be an advocate for student health. It acts like a mouthpiece of Big Pharma and the CDC.

by Daniel Nuccio

Daniel Nuccio is an independent journalist and Ph.D. student in biology. His work has been published by The American Conservative, the Federalist, the College Fix, and the Brownstone Institute.

This article appears in The American Conservative. The author interviewed me after seeing a video I posted on this topic. The interview includes information I provided and some additional info he dug up too.

Disturbing info, but worth reading.

<https://www.theamericanconservative.com/articles/the-american-college-health-association/>